TARGET

TRIP TO THE PLANET is an affair of the heart for me and in the long term I'd like to establish it in the midst of the successful German travel blogs.

TARGET AUDIENCE

TRIP TO THE PLANET is for all people who like to travel and are searching for some inspiration for their next destinations. Furthermore the blog is for all those who are not ready for a journey round the world for different reasons. The focus is on short trips and small timeouts. Especially employed travel friends can get some benefit from it. Besides I travel alone a lot so that the blog is interesting for women without company as well.

ABOUT ME

My name is Christina (28 years old) and in addition to my degree in Master of Arts Media Instruction Design I'm equipped with a big dose of travel nerves. As an practiced editor I'd like to share my travel experiences with my readers and to inspire them to take a small timeout from their daily routine once in a while. I'd like to motivate especially those who are not ready for the great journey round the world (yet) but to explore the world in many small steps. On my blog I report on my trips that I usually take by myself and exclusively in Europe so far.
